FOREWORD FROM DEAN OF FACULTY OF HUMANITIES

Om Swastiastu,

We express our gratitude to Ida Sang Hyang Widhi Wasa/God Almighty for His blessings and grace. Guidelines for Writing Thesis of the Bachelor Of Japanese Literature Faculty of Humanities, Udayana University can be published. The publication of this guideline is very important as a guide for the academic community (students, lecturers, and education staff) related to the mechanism for preparing the thesis, the format for compiling research proposals, and the format for the preparation of the thesis. This book is expected to be a mutually agreed guideline without the aim of limiting scientific creativity and the characteristics of the eight undergraduate study programs at the Faculty of Humanities.

The preparation of this thesis is one of the requirements to obtain a bachelor's degree at Udayana University. In order to produce competent and qualified graduates in accordance with the Indonesian National Qualifications Framework (KKNI), it is also very important to pay attention to the quality of the thesis produced by students. This is also in line with efforts to support the ideals of Udayana University as a research university. The improvement of this guideline will always be carried out as part of continuous improvement efforts as one of the strategies implemented to realize the vision, mission, and goals of the Faculty of Humanities.

Finally, we express our gratitude and appreciation to all those who have worked hard so that this guideline can be realized. Hopefully this guide will be useful for all of us in an effort to improve the quality of the thesis that can be accounted for academically. We welcome constructive suggestions for the perfection of this guide.

CHAPTER I INTRODUCTION

The Faculty of Humanities has a vision of realizing the Faculty of Humanities which has excellence and independence in the fields of education, research, and community service with scientific applications based on culture. To realize this vision, the mission of the Faculty of Humanities is as follows.

1. Developing a learning system based on local wisdom supported by communication and information technology, as well as an adequate quality assurance system to be able to produce superior, independent, and cultured graduates.
2. Developing superior scientific research and studies as the spearhead in order to be able to produce new findings of high quality, beneficial for the development of science and technology, and beneficial for community development in an effort to realize the Faculty of Humanities, Udayana University as a research faculty.
3. Grow and develop quantitatively and qualitatively scientific studies in the form of articles in both national, nationally accredited, and international journals.
4. Developing the Faculty of Humanities, Udayana University as a superior program to increase the credibility of the university in the community in superior service programs.

The Faculty of Humanities has twelve study programs, namely eight undergraduate study programs (S1), two master's level study programs (S2), and two doctoral level study programs (S3). The educational model of the undergraduate program at the Faculty of Humanities, Udayana University is a combination of the educational process through lectures (by course work) and the educational process through research (by research). The results of independent scientific research called a thesis for undergraduate programs (S1) will be one of the main ingredients in the successful study of S1 students.

The thesis reflects scientific / academic mastery so that in the end undergraduate graduates can develop their knowledge. To prepare research that produces a thesis, a research work plan is needed called a research proposal or research proposal. This research proposal must be prepared as well as possible by students, then discussed in depth with the supervisor and the assessment committee. Thus, a study will be produced that has a weight that can be accounted for.

Thesis is an academic work of S1 program students compiled in a format that is generally accepted in the academic world, which shows the systematics of the thought process, reasoning, and how research works. Lecturers have academic freedom. However, for the smoothness, efficiency, and productivity of the thesis preparation process, it is necessary to compile a general guideline in the preparation of the thesis.

These guidelines were drafted with no intention of limiting the scientific creativity of students or mentors. Every student and supervisor still have autonomy, but in a system of rules that are mutually agreed upon so that a thesis can be compiled that has the following conditions::

1. have scientific weight that can be accounted for in accordance with the undergraduate education strata equivalent to level 6 of the Indonesian National Qualifications Framework (KKNI);
2. show accuracy in describing or describing objects, problems, and research discussions;
3. shows the sharpness of reasoning;
4. compiled in a format prevalent in the academic world.

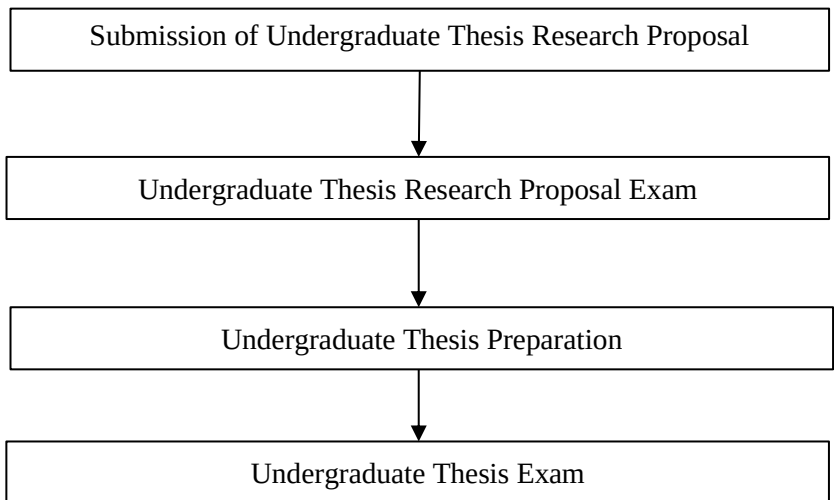

This guideline is a general manual so that each study program is given space to move according to the specificity of each study program. However, it still remains within the general framework that has been mutually agreed upon. Thus, this thesis preparation manual can be used as:

1. guidelines by S1 program students in writing research and thesis proposals; and
2. a reference for supervisors in the process of mentoring students.

CHAPTER II

MECHANISM OF UNDERGRADUATE THESIS PREPARATION

The mechanism for preparing the thesis according to the following flow chart.

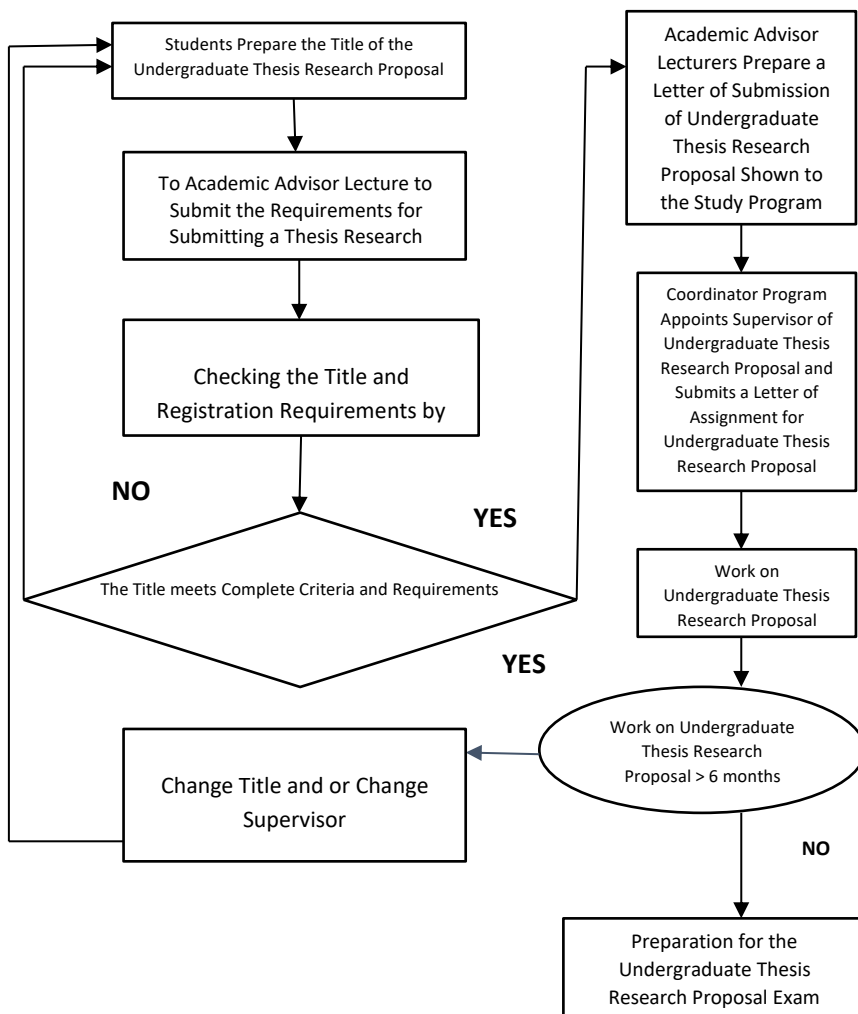

2.1 Mechanism for Submitting Undergraduate Thesis Research Proposals

2.1.1 Prerequisites for Submitting a Undergraduate Thesis Research Proposal

The prerequisites in submitting a thesis research proposal are as follows.

1. Students have passed a minimum of 110 credits.
2. Have passed the required compulsory courses.
3. Prepare a photocopy of the last UKT payment, KRS, and draft thesis research proposal.

2.1.2 Flowchart of Stages of Submitting a Undergraduate Thesis Research Proposal

2.1.3 Undergraduate Thesis Research Proposal Supervisor

1. The supervisor of the undergraduate thesis research proposal consists of supervisor 1 and supervisor 2.
2. The Coordinator of Study Program appoints lecturers as supervisors 1 and 2 by paying attention to the rules regarding the supervisor and the lecturer's field of expertise.
3. Lecturers who serve as supervisors at least occupy the position of expert assistants with S2 education.
4. The supervisor of the undergraduate thesis research proposal is generally tasked with:
 - a. guiding students in preparing undergraduate thesis research proposals to meet quality standards;
 - b. guiding and supervising students to adhere to academic integrity;
 - c. guiding and supervising students to adhere to research ethics.
5. In particular, supervisor 1 is in charge of:
 - a. guiding students to compile research proposals, especially in the aspects of the substance of argumentation, research methods, literature review, and the use of theories and concepts;
 - b. checking to ensure that the student's undergraduate thesis research proposal is an original work (not plagiarism).
6. In particular, supervisor 2 is in charge of guiding students to compile a undergraduate thesis in the aspects of coherence (wholeness or logicity) of paragraph content, diction (word choice), grammar, and citation standards.

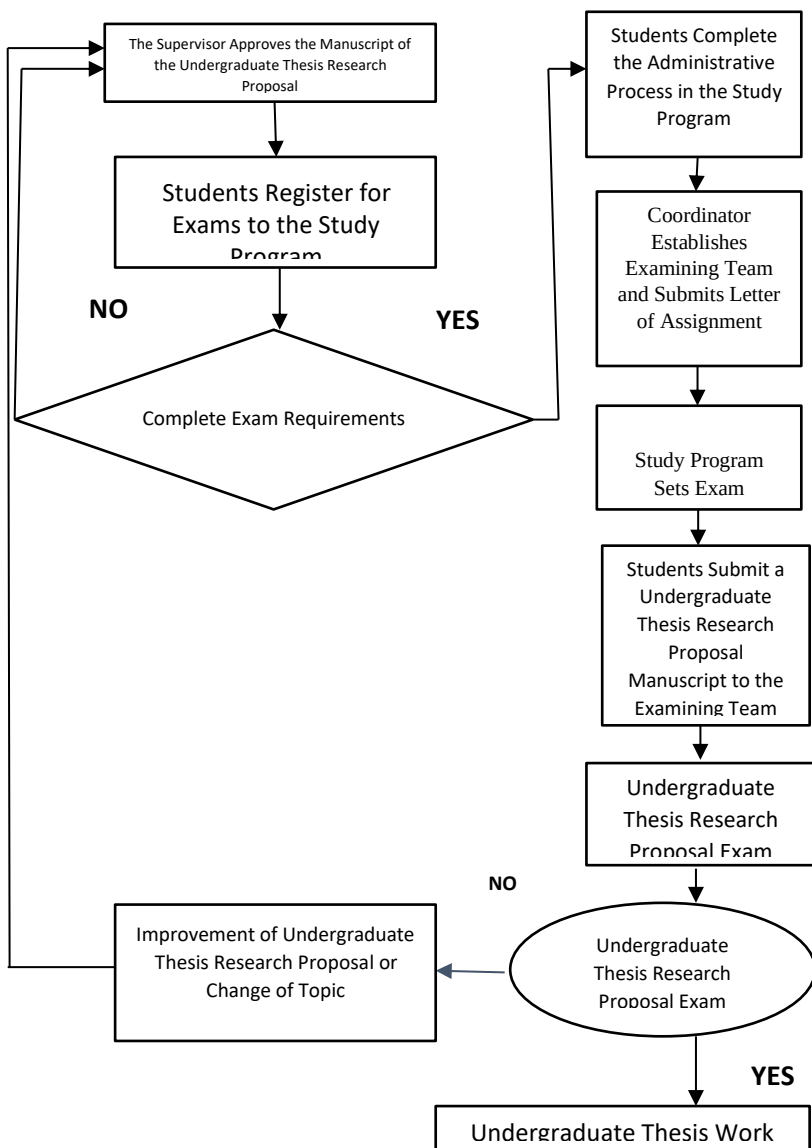

2.2 Undergraduate Thesis Research Proposal Examination Mechanism

2.2.1 Prerequisites for Undergraduate Thesis Research Proposal Exam

The prerequisites in the thesis research proposal exam are as follows.

1. The supervisor has expressed approval of the thesis research proposal.
2. Submit the manuscript of the thesis research proposal that has not been bound (without a cover) using the FIB Exam Map to the Undergraduate Thesis Research Proposal Examination Team no later than one week before the exam takes place.
3. Submit evidence that you have passed the research method course / evidence of having attended research training / evidence of conducting research in the field of study. It can be a certificate or research results.

2.2.2 Flow Chart Examination Mechanism for Thesis Research Proposal

2.2.3 Undergraduate Thesis Research Proposal Examination Examiner Team

1. The examining team consists of the leader (one person), secretary (one person), and members (3 people) by involving supervisors in it.

2.2.4 Implementation of the Undergraduate Thesis Research Proposal Examination

1. The Study Program informs the invitation and schedule for the thesis research proposal exam to the supervisor and examiner.
2. If the supervisor and examiner cannot be present on the day of the exam, at least 3 days before the exam, they must inform the study program.
3. The exam can take place if attended by one of the supervisors and a minimum of two examiners. (If 1 sudden examiner lecturer cannot test then it is enough to be tested by 2 examiners, but if 2 sudden examiner lecturers cannot test then the exam. postponed on the appointed day later (rescheduled).
4. At the time of the exam the student's dress code is as follows. Men wear tops in the form of white shirts, black ties, and alma mater suits, black pants bottoms, and black shoes. Women wear white shirt tops, black bow ties, and alma mater suits, black skirt bottoms, and black shoes. Male examiners wore free-color shirts and ties while female testers wore free-color bow shirts and ties.
5. Students are required to prepare everything related to the exam 30 minutes before the exam takes place.
6. The duration of the thesis research proposal exam is a maximum of 90 minutes with a balanced distribution for all examiners to ask questions and answers.

7. Students present their material with a maximum duration of 15 minutes.
8. After the exam, the thesis research proposal that has been revised and received approval from the supervisor is known by the head of the study program and the dean to be collected in printed form using paper with the logo of the Faculty of Humanities with a light beige buffalo cover to the study program and faculty library.
9. Thesis research proposals that do not pass the exam will be reviewed for the possibility of changing the topic, title, content, and others.

2.2.5 Undergraduate Thesis Research Proposal Exam Assessment

The assessment of the thesis research proposal exam is carried out by supervisors and examiners with the following conditions.

1. Norms of Assessment
 - a. Reference : Benchmark Reference Assessment (PAP) or Norm Referenced Assessment (PAN)
 - b. Value scale: 0-4 or with a symbol A, B+, B, C+, C, D+,D, E.
 - c. How to transfer: raw value into value following the conditions :

Table 2.1 Norms of Assessment

Numbered Score	Alphabet ic Value	Number Value	Ability Criteria
80 – 100	A	4,0	Excellent
71 – < 80	B+	3,5	Very Good

65 – < 71	B	3,0	Good
60 – < 65	C+	2,5	Good Enough
55 – < 60	C	2,0	Fair
50 – < 55	D+	1,5	Not Enough
40 – < 50	D	1,0	Bad
0 – < 40	E	0	Very Bad

2. Value Calculation

Value is calculated using the formula:	ΣN	= NA
	ΣP

N = average score of each examiner

P = Examiner

NA = Final score

3. Assessment Material and Quality

a. Writing aspect.

a) Writing (paper, letters, typing, text writing) – 15%

b) Disclosure (use of language, systematics of writing) – 15%

c) Study sources (number of variety and up-to-date sources) – 15%

d) Content (explanation of the problem, relevance of the problem, ability to formulate readings, theoretical studies, and method accuracy) – 25%

b. Accountability aspect

a) Presentation of material (systematic presentation, use of language, timeliness of presentation) – 15%

b) Ability to master the material (correct answer, answer technique, student personal integrity) – 15%

4. The final results of the undergraduate thesis research proposal test are stated in the following criteria.

a. Graduated with grades A, B or C.

b. Failed (D or E).

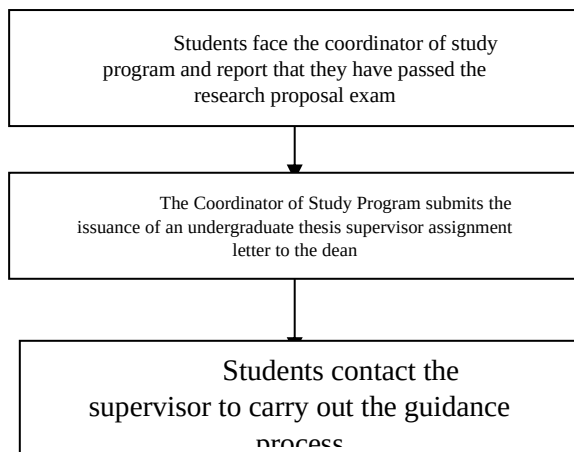

2.3 Undergraduate Thesis Writing Mechanism

2.3.1 Prerequisites for Writing Undergraduate Thesis

The prerequisites for the preparation of the undergraduate thesis are as follows.

1. The undergraduate thesis research proposal has been declared passed and approved by the supervisor.
2. Students enter their undergraduate thesis at the last KRS.

2.3.2 Undergraduate Thesis Writing Flowchart

2.3.3 Undergraduate Thesis Supervisor

1. Undergraduate thesis supervisor consists of supervisor I and supervisor II.
2. Supervisors I and II for thesis research proposals continue as thesis supervisors, unless they are unable to do so, they can be replaced.

3. Undergraduate thesis supervisors are generally tasked with:
 - a. guiding students in compiling a thesis to meet quality standards;
 - b. guiding and supervising students to adhere to academic integrity;
 - c. guiding and supervising students to adhere to research ethics.
4. In particular, supervisor I is in charge of guiding students to compile a thesis, especially in the aspects of argumentation substance, research methods, literature review, use of theory, and discussion of research results.
5. In particular, supervisor II is in charge of guiding students to compile a thesis in technical aspects including coherence (wholeness or logicity) of paragraph content, diction (word choice), grammar, and citation standards.
6. The change of thesis supervisor is carried out if the lecturer concerned is on a learning assignment, the guidance process does not run as it should. If there is a change of supervisor I, what is proposed as a replacement is the previous supervisor II while the new supervisor II is appointed by another lecturer by the head of the study program. The change of thesis supervisor is submitted by the head of study program to the dean to be issued a new letter of assignment.

2.3.4 Undergraduate Thesis Preparation Process

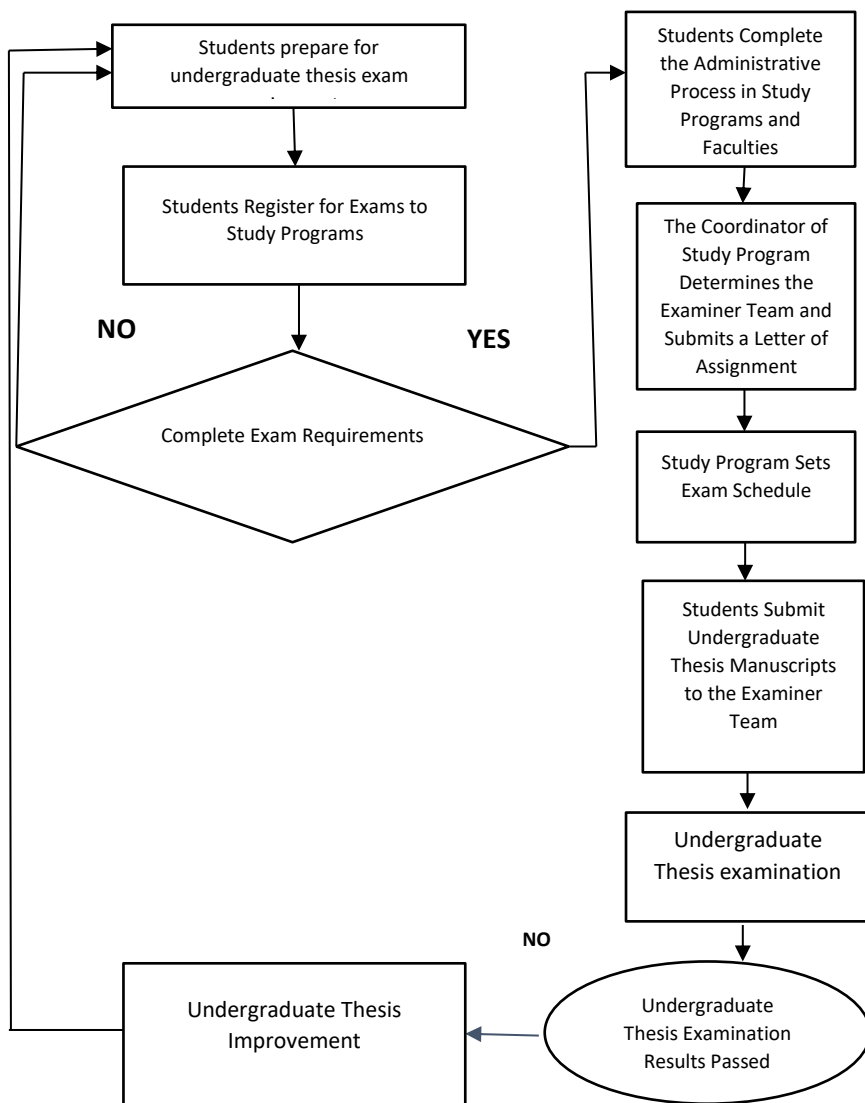

1. Students contact the supervisor to carry out the guidance process.
2. The supervisor guides students in writing a thesis until the thesis is ready to be tested.
3. The guidance process is at least 4 times for supervisor I and 4 times for supervisor II.
4. The guidance process is recorded in the thesis guidance card (example on appendix 22).

2.4 Undergraduate Thesis Examination Mechanism

2.4.1 Prerequisites for Undergraduate Thesis Examination

1. The supervisor has approved the undergraduate thesis to be tested.
2. Has been declared to have completed all required credit expenses with legalized evidence and other administrative completeness (paid off SPP / UKT, free library, SKP, Publications or National / International Journals with ISSN, TOEFL Certificate (TOEFL Score = 525 for English Literature students while for non-English Literature students TOEFL Score = 400), N3 Japanese Language Proficiency Test Certificate.
3. Have submitted the thesis manuscript that has not been bound / given a cover using the FIB Exam Map to the examining committee no later than one week before the exam takes place.

2.4.2 Undergraduate Thesis Exam Flowchart

2.4.3 Undergraduate Thesis Exam Examiner Team

1. The examiner team consists of a leader (one person), a secretary (one person), and members (3 people) including supervisors.
2. The examiner team for the undergraduate thesis research proposal continues as the examination team, unless unable to do so, it can be replaced.

2.4.4 Implementation of Undergraduate Thesis Examination

1. The study program delivers the invitation and undergraduate thesis exam schedule of the supervisor and examiner.
2. The study program must be informed at least 3 days before the exam if the supervisor and examiner are unable to present on the day of the exam.
3. The exam can be carried out if it is attended by one of the supervisors and at least two examiners. (If 1 examiner suddenly cannot examine then it is enough to be examined by 2 examiners, but if 2 examiners suddenly cannot examine then the exam is postponed to a later day (rescheduled)).
4. The student's dress code for examination is as follows. Men wear a top in the form of a white shirt, black tie, and almamater coat, black pants, and black shoes. Women wear a white shirt top, black bow tie, and almamater coat, a black skirt, and black shoes. Male examiners wear shirts and ties of free color while female examiners wear shirts and bow ties of free colors.
5. Students are required to prepare everything related to the exam 30 minutes before the examination.
6. The duration of the thesis examination is a maximum of 90 minutes with a balanced distribution for all examiners to ask questions.

7. Students present their material with a maximum duration of 15 minutes.
8. Revision of undergraduate thesis script which has been examined must be completed within at least 2 weeks after the examination.
9. The thesis which has been revised and has obtained the supervisor's approval with the knowledge of the study program and dean printed in 6 copies of hardcover with a light beige color paper completed with the logo of the Faculty of Cultural Sciences and submitted to the following.
 - a. Supervisor I 1 copy
 - b. Supervisor II 1 copy
 - c. Study Program 1 copy
 - d. FIB Library 1 copy
 - e. Rectorate Library 1 copy
 - f. Archives 1 copy

2.4.5 Undergraduate Thesis Examination Assessment

The assessment of the thesis exam is carried out by the supervisor and examiner with the following conditions.

1. Norms of Assessment
 - a. Reference : Benchmark Reference Assessment (PAP) or Norm Referenced Assessment (PAN)
 - b. Value scale: 0-4 or with a symbol A, B+, B, C+, C, D+,D, E.
 - c. How to transfer: raw value into value following the conditions.

Table 2.1 Norms of Assessment

Numbered Score	Alphabet ic Value	Number Value	Ability Criteria
80 – 100	A	4,0	Excellent
71 – < 80	B+	3,5	Very Good
65 – < 71	B	3,0	Good
60 – < 65	C+	2,5	Good Enough
55 – < 60	C	2,0	Fair
50 – < 55	D+	1,5	Not Enough
40 – < 50	D	1,0	Bad
0 – < 40	E	0	Very Bad

2. Value Calculation

Value is calculated using the formula:	$\frac{\sum N}{\sum P}$	= NA

N = average score of each examiner

P = Examiner

NA = Final score

3. Assessment Material and Quality

a. Writing aspect.

a) Writing (paper, letters, typing, text writing) – 15%

b) Disclosure (use of language, systematics of writing) – 15%

c) Study sources (number of variety and up-to-date sources) – 15%

- d) Content (explanation of the problem, relevance of the problem, ability to formulate readings, theoretical studies, and method accuracy) – 25%
- b. Accountability aspect
 - a) Presentation of material (systematic presentation, use of language, timeliness of presentation) – 15%
 - b) Ability to master the material (correct answer, answer technique, student personal integrity) – 15%
- 4. The final results of the undergraduate thesis research proposal test are stated in the following criteria.
 - a. Graduated with grades A, B or C.
 - b. Failed (D or E).

2.5 The Mechanism of Undergraduate Thesis Guidance, Research Proposal Exam, and Online Undergraduate Thesis Examination

In situations where it is not possible to do face-to-face, thesis guidance and research proposal exams and thesis exams can be done online. This has been regulated through a circular letter from the dean of the Faculty of Humanities, Udayana University Number 3 / UN14.2.1 / SE / 2020.

2.5.1 Mechanism of Online Undergraduate Thesis Guidance

1. In situations where it is not possible to do face-to-face, the thesis guidance process can be carried out online

- using the communication media agreed upon between the supervisor and students.
2. The online undergraduate thesis guidance process must still comply with the thesis guidance provisions, such as the number of meetings, recording of the guidance process, and others.

2.5.2 Mechanism of Research Proposal Examination and Undergraduate Thesis Examination by Online

1. The exam is conducted online using the Cisco Webex application or other means that can present all examiners in one online speech room.
2. In the implementation of online examinations, examining lecturers and students use predetermined clothes.
3. The chief examiner is required to make a screenshot of the exam to complete the minutes of the exam.
4. The chief examiner can preside over the exam anywhere, but if he needs the help of a campus officer, the chief examiner must come to campus so that he can be guided by an officer.

CHAPTER III

RESEARCH PROPOSAL FOR UNDERGRADUATE THESIS

3.1 Undergraduate Thesis Research Proposal Framework

The undergraduate thesis research proposal has the following general framework.

3.1.1 Initial Part of Undergraduate Thesis Research Proposal

The initial part of the research proposal contains the following:.

1. Front Cover page
2. Inner Cover page
3. Motto of Udayana University, and Vision of University, Faculty, and Study Program page
4. Supervisor Approval page
5. Examiner Committee Appointment page
6. Plagiarism Free Declaration page
7. Table of Contents page
8. List of Tables page (if there any)
9. List of Pictures/Images page (if there any)
10. List of Abbreviation or Symbols page (if there any)
11. List of Appendices page

3.1.2 The Core Section of Undergraduate Thesis Research Proposal

The core part of the research proposal contains the following:

CHAPTER I INTRODUCTION

- 1.1 Background of the Study
- 1.2 Formulation of The Problem
- 1.3 Research Purposes
- 1.4 Benefits of Research
- 1.5 The Scope of Research

CHAPTER II STUDY OF LITERATURE, CONCEPT, AND THEORY FRAMEWORK

- 2.1 Literature Review
- 2.2 Concept
- 2.3 Theoretical Framework

CHAPTER III RESEARCH METHODS

- 3.1 Research Design
- 3.2 Research Sites (if there any)
- 3.3 Research Time
- 3.4 Data Types and Sources
- 3.5 Research Instruments
- 3.6 Data Collection Methods and Techniques
- 3.7 Data Analysis Methods and Techniques
- 3.8 Methods and Techniques for Presentation of Data Analysis Results

3.1.3 Final Part of Thesis Research Proposal

The final part of the research proposal must include the following points.

1. Bibliography/References
2. Appendices
3. Schedule of Activities
4. Cost Breakdown (if there any)

3.2 Explanation of the Undergraduate Thesis Research Proposal Framework

3.2.1 Explanation of the Initial Part of the Undergraduate Thesis Research Proposal

The initial part of the thesis research proposal contains the following:

1. Front Cover Page

This page contains the following items in succession: thesis research proposal, title, a symbol of Udayana University, names of undergraduate program participants, name of institution (Faculty of Humanities at Udayana University), and the year the undergraduate thesis proposal was tested. This page uses light beige buffalo paper.

- a. The title of the research is short, clear, does not have multiple meanings, and is related to the content of the research proposal.
- b. The symbol of Udayana University is round with a diameter of 4 cm and is golden yellow.
- c. The student's name is written in full, not abbreviated, without a bachelor's degree. On the front cover, there is no student identification number (NIM) under the name.

Example: Appendix 1

2. Inner Cover Page

This page contains the same material as the front cover page, but there is an additional name of the study program in question before the name of the institution of the Faculty of Humanities, Udayana University. This page uses white paper. On the inside cover under the student's name is written NIM.

Example: Appendix 3

3. Motto of Udayana University, and Vision of University, Faculty, and Study Program Page

This page contains the Motto of Udayana University and the vision of Udayana University, the vision of the Faculty of Humanities, and the vision of the study program.

4. Supervisor Approval Page

This page contains the title, the sentence “Research Proposal for Thesis. This Was Approved on the Date.....” full names and signatures of supervisors and endorsement by the Study Program Coordinator.

Example: Appendix 6

5. Examiner Committee Appointment Page

This page contains the date, and month of the year the examination was conducted, as well as the names of the chairperson and members of the examiners of the thesis research proposal.

Example: Appendix 8

6. Plagiarism Free Declaration Page

This page contains a statement letter explaining that the proposed thesis research is free from plagiarism. The statement letter is equipped with a stamp of 6000.

Example: Appendix 19

7. Table of Contents Page

This list contains the sections in the thesis research proposal, including chapters, subchapters, and sub-chapters with their numbers.

Example: Appendix 11

8. List of Tables (if there any)

The table list contains table sequence numbers, table titles, and page numbers.

Example: Appendix 13

9. List of Pictures/Images (if there any)

The list of images contains the serial number of the image, the title of the image, and the page number.

Example: Appendix 14

10. List of Abbreviation or Symbols Page

This page contains abbreviations or symbols used in alphabetical order.

Example : Appendix 15

11. List of Appendices

The list of attachments contains the serial number of the attachment, the title of the attachment, and the page number.

Appendix 1: Description of activity schedule

Appendix 2: Cost breakdown

Appendix 3: Explanation and information including informed consent (approval after receiving an explanation) if the research is carried out with human subjects.

Appendix 4: Sample interview guide or research questionnaire

3.2.2 Explanation of the Core Parts of the Undergraduate Thesis Research Proposal

CHAPTER I INTRODUCTION

1.1 Background of the Study

The first paragraph in the background contains no references. The background contains a description of the research problem along with the reasons for the importance of the problem to be studied. The problem must be supported by empirical observations which show that there is a gap between what is ideal (das sollen) and what is actually found (das sein), or the problem to be studied is indeed a new problem that has never been studied or studied before. To show the authenticity of the research, cross-references can be made to the literature review. Thus, it can be clearly illustrated that there are problems that need to be investigated. The problem must also be placed in the context of a broader theory so that it can be seen the weight of the problem and the value that will be achieved if the problem can be solved.

1.2 Formulation of The Problem

The formulation of the problem is a real formulation of the problem that exists in the form of a research statement based on theoretical thinking whose truth needs to be proven. The formulation of the problem can be arranged in the form of a question sentence regarding the core problem to be solved.

1.3 Research Purposes

This section sets out the objectives to be achieved through the research process. Research objectives must be unambiguous. Research objectives can be formulated in the form of general objectives, which are then translated into specific objectives.

1.4 Benefits of Research

This section contains a description of the benefits of the research findings for the development of science that can be utilized by other scientists for the development of science, technology, and art (theoretical benefits) as well as the benefits of solving problems in society and all stakeholders (practical benefits).

1.5 The Scope of Research

The scope of the research indicates the boundaries of the field to be researched. Boundaries can be based on the object and problem under study.

CHAPTER II STUDY OF LITERATURE, CONCEPT, AND THEORY FRAMEWORK

2.1 Literature Review

A literature review is a study of several previous recent studies that are relevant and provide inspiration for current research. The review of several studies that have been carried out is very useful for a researcher because it can add insight, understand, and utilize relevant methods and theoretical foundations, or prepare strategies to overcome various obstacles that may arise in the research concerned.

2.2. Concept

The concept is the keyword of the thesis title and the result of abstraction and thesis synopsis of the theory which is related to the research problem faced in addition to answering and solving research problems. The concept is a limitation of understanding or formulation of the definition of a phenomenon or object related to the research problem. Through clear concepts, it is hoped that understanding certain phenomena or objects will not lead to multiple interpretations.

2.2 Theoretical Framework

A theoretical framework is a framework of thinking that comes from a theory that is needed as a guide to solving various problems in a study. In addition, the theoretical framework serves as a frame of reference that can direct research. The theoretical framework is in the form of a set of concepts, definitions, and propositions that present symptoms systematically and detail the relationships of the variables to predict and explain these phenomena.

CHAPTER III RESEARCH METHODS

3.1 Research Design

Describe clearly the research design used. If necessary, make a schematic..

3.2 Research Sites (if there any)

The research location is the place where the research will be carried out. The research location can be a village, city, or organization with the unit of analysis in the form of an individual, family, group, or community.

3.3 Research Time

Research time refers to the time the research is carried out.

3.4 Data Types and Sources

Describe the types and sources of data used in the study. The data collected must be able to answer the research objectives. Sources of data in qualitative research can be in the form of linguistic texts, objects, or people (informants) selected based on certain criteria.

3.5 Research Instruments

It describes the types and specifications of the instruments used in data collection, including the tools and methods of examination. Research instruments can be in the form of interview guidelines, observation guidelines, and others..

3.6 Data Collection Methods and Techniques

Data collection methods and techniques must be adapted to research approaches, problems, and theories.

3.7 Data Analysis Methods and Techniques

Data analysis methods and techniques aim to categorize, reduce, or elaborate on all the collected data, present it systematically, then process, interpret, and interpret the data..

3.8 Methods and Techniques for Presentation of Data

Analysis Results

The results of data analysis can be presented formally (in the form of charts, graphs, etc.), informally (narrative), or a combination of formal and informal methods..

3.2.3 Explanation of the Final Part of Undergraduate Thesis Research Proposal

The final part of the thesis research proposal includes the following:

1. Bibliography/References (follow how to write bibliography)
2. Appendices

This appendix consists of a schedule of activities, details of costs (if any), and if necessary, added explanations and information including statements after explanation (informed consent) and examples of interview guidelines or questionnaires.

Note:

The last page number is a continuation of the main page number.

CHAPTER IV UNDERGRADUATE THESIS

4.1 Undergraduate Thesis Framework

The undergraduate thesis has a general framework as follows.

4.1.1 The Initial Part of Undergraduate Thesis

The initial part of the thesis contains the following items.

1. Front Cover page
2. Inner Cover page
3. Motto of Udayana University, and Vision of University, Faculty, and Study Program page
4. Degree Requirements page
5. Supervisor Approval page
6. Examiner Committee Appointment page
7. Plagiarism Free Declaration page
8. Publication Approval Statement page
9. Writer's Words of Gratitude page
10. Abstract page (Indonesian)
11. Abstract page (Japanese)
12. Table of Contents page
13. List of Tables page (if there any)
14. List of Pictures/Images (if there any)
15. List of Abbreviation or Symbols page (if there any)
16. Glossary (if there any)
17. List of Appendices

4.1.2 Undergraduate Thesis Core Section

The core part of the thesis contains the following:.

CHAPTER I INTRODUCTION

- 1.1 Background of the Study
- 1.2 Formulation of the Problem
- 1.3 Research Purposes
- 1.4 Benefits of Research
- 1.5 The Scope of Research

CHAPTER II STUDY OF LITERATURE, CONCEPT, AND THEORY FRAMEWORK

- 2.1 Literature Review
- 2.2 Concepts
- 2.3 Theoretical Framework

CHAPTER III RESEARCH METHODS

- 3.1 Research Design
- 3.2 Research Sites (if there any)
- 3.3 Research Time
- 3.4 Data Types and Sources
- 3.5 Research Instruments
- 3.6 Data Collection Methods and Techniques
- 3.7 Data Analysis Methods and Techniques
- 3.8 Methods and Techniques for Presentation of Data
Analysis Results

CHAPTER IV RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

CHAPTER V CLOSING

- 5.1 Conclusion
- 5.2 Suggestion

4.1.3 Final Part of Undergraduate Thesis

The final part of the undergraduate thesis must include the following points:

- 1. Bibliography/Reference

2. Appendices

4.2 Explanation of Undergraduate Thesis Framework

4.2.1 Explanation of the Initial Part of Undergraduate Thesis Framework

The first part of the thesis contains the following:

1. Front Cover Page

This page contains the word “thesis” successively (in Times New Roman 14 letters), the title (in Times New Roman 16 letters), the symbol of Udayana University (with a diameter of 4 cm in golden yellow), and student names (in Times New letters). Roman 12), the name of the institution (Faculty of Humanities, Udayana University Denpasar), and the year the thesis was tested (in Times New Roman 14). All are typed in capital letters. This page uses light beige buffalo paper. The final thesis will be submitted to the library and faculty is required to wear a hardcover. On the front cover page add: on the left side of the front cover, the thesis title, student name, and year of the examination must be filled in.

Example : Appendix 2

2. Inner Cover Page

This page contains the same material as the front cover page, but the name of the study program in question is added before the name of the institution of the Faculty of Humanities, Udayana University. This page uses white paper. On the inside cover under the student's name is written NIM.

Example: Appendix 4

3. Motto of Udayana University, and Vision of University, Faculty, and Study Program Page

This page contains the Motto of Udayana University as well as the vision of Udayana University, the vision of the Faculty of Humanities, and the vision of the Study Program.

4. Degree Requirements Page

This page contains successively the title of the thesis, the statement “Thesis for Obtaining a Bachelor's Degree in a Study Program at the Faculty of Humanities, Udayana University”, name and Student Identification Number (NIM), Study Program, Faculty of Humanities, Udayana University, the year the thesis is tested.

Example: Appendix 5

5. Supervisor Approval Page

This page contains the full names and signatures of the supervisors, known by the study program coordinator and dean.

Example: Appendix 7

6. Examiner Committee Appointment Page

This page contains the assignment letter for the determination of the examiner team, the date, month, and year of the examination, as well as the names of the chairperson and members of the thesis examiner.

Example: Appendix 9

7. Plagiarism Free Declaration Page

This page contains a statement letter explaining that the proposed thesis research is free from plagiarism. The statement letter is equipped with a stamp of 6000.

Example: Appendix 19

8. Publication Approval Statement Page

This page contains the identity of the student and his work, the title of the thesis, and the agreement to give non-exclusive Royalty Free Right to the Faculty of Humanities, Udayana University and is equipped with a stamp of 6000.

Example: Appendix 20

9. Writer's Words of Gratitude Page

This page contains a statement of gratitude from undergraduate program participants to those who have assisted in conducting research and in preparing the manuscript, and financial assistance from certain parties who are considered important and play a role in completing the thesis.

Example: Appendix 10

10. Abstract Page

(Indonesian)

1. The thesis abstract contains the title of the thesis which is the same as the title on the front page, the formulation of the problem, research objectives, research methods, and research results presented descriptively..
2. Abstract maximum 250-500 words, typed one-spaced apart.
3. At the end of the abstract, keywords are made, with at least three words.
4. Abstracts must be made in good and correct Indonesian accompanied by abstracts in regional or foreign languages according to the study program.

(Japanese)

1. The title 要旨 is written in bold and placed in the middle of the page
2. The space between the title 要旨 and the first line is two spaces.

3. The space between lines on a page is one space.
4. The content of 要旨 is the description of ABSTRACT in a writing format: the paragraph is horizontal, 40 characters horizontally, and 30 characters vertically. The initial section is placed on one tap from the page's left border.
5. The sentence form that is used is ending with である.
6. The words in a foreign language, for example, the name of a place, or the name of people written in Katakana
7. Example: appendix no 24

11. Table of Contents Page

This list contains the sections in the thesis, including chapters, subchapters, and sub-sections with their numbers.

Example: Appendix 12

12. List of Tables (if there any)

The table list contains table sequence numbers, table titles, and page numbers.

Example: Appendix 13

13. List of Pictures/Images (if there any)

The image list contains the serial number of the image, the title of the image and the page number.

Example: Appendix 14

14. List of Abbreviation or Symbols Page (if there any)

This page contains abbreviations or symbols used in alphabetical order.

Example : Appendix 15

15. Glossary (if there any)

This page contains a list of important words or terms arranged in alphabetical order with definitions or explanations in certain fields of knowledge.

16. List of Appendices

The list of attachments contains the serial number of the attachment, the title of the attachment, and the page number.

4.2.2 Explanation of Thesis Core Parts

CHAPTER I INTRODUCTION

1.1 Background of the Study

The first paragraph in the background contains no references. The background contains a description of the research problem, along with the reasons for the importance of the problem being researched. The problem must be supported by empirical observations which show that there is a gap between what is ideal (das sollen) and what is actually found (das sein), or the problem to be studied is indeed a new problem that has never been studied or studied before. This section sets out the objectives to be achieved through the research process. Research objectives must be unequivocal. Research objectives can be arranged in the form of general objectives, which are then translated into specific objectives.

1.4 Benefits of Research

This section contains a description of the benefits of the research findings for the development of science that can be utilized by other scientists for the development of science, technology, and art (theoretical benefits) as well as the benefits of solving problems in society and all stakeholders (practical benefits).

1.6 The Scope of Research

The scope of the research indicates the boundaries of the field to be researched. Boundaries can be based on the object and problem under study.

CHAPTER II STUDY OF LITERATURE, CONCEPT, AND THEORY FRAMEWORK

2.1 Literature Review

A literature review is a study of several previous recent studies that are relevant and provide inspiration for current research. The review of several studies that have been carried out is very useful for a researcher because it can add insight, understand, and utilize relevant methods and theoretical foundations, or prepare strategies to overcome various obstacles that may arise in the research concerned.

In addition, the theoretical framework serves as a frame of reference that can direct research. The theoretical framework is in the form of a set of concepts, definitions, and propositions that present symptoms systematically and detail the relationships of the variables to predict and explain these phenomena.

CHAPTER III RESEARCH METHODS

3.1 Research Design

Describe clearly the research design used. If necessary, make a schematic.

3.2 Research Sites (if there any)

The research location is the place where the research will be carried out. The research location can be a village, city, or organization with the unit of analysis in the form of an individual, family, group, or community.

3.3 Research Time

Research time refers to the time the research is carried out.

3.4 Data Types and Sources

Describe the types and sources of data used in the study. The data collected must really be able to answer the research objectives. Sources of data in qualitative research can be in the form of linguistic texts, objects, or people (informants) selected based on certain criteria.

3.5 Research Instruments

It describes the types and specifications of the instruments used in data collection, including the tools and methods of examination. Research instruments can be in the form of interview guidelines, observation guidelines, and others.

3.6 Data Collection Methods and Techniques

Data collection methods and techniques must be adapted to research approaches, problems, and theories.

3.7 Data Analysis Methods and Techniques

Data analysis methods and techniques aim to categorize, reduce, or elaborate on all the collected data, present it systematically, then process, interpret, and interpret the data.

3.8 Methods and Techniques for Presentation of Data Analysis Results

The results of data analysis can be presented formally (in the form of charts, graphs, etc.), informally (narrative), or a combination of formal and informal methods.

CHAPTER IV RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

The discussion of the research results shows the level of mastery of the researcher on the development of science, paradigms, concepts, and theories which are combined with the results of the research and at least includes the following matters.

1. The discussion of research results is integrated with the theory or previous findings in a coherent manner so that it can answer the problems posed.
2. The placement of research results is carried out in the context of the discipline concerned by comparing research results with findings and theories that already exist. Should be explained if there is a difference with the previous findings.
3. The explicit formulation is carried out on research findings or scientific development that will be given special weight to the thesis or its implications in scientific development.
4. An understanding of the limitations of the study was carried out, so that it could provide suggestions for further research.

The number of results and discussion chapters can be adjusted to the number of research questions in the problem formulation.

CHAPTER V CLOSING

The closing chapter numbers are adjusted to the last numbering in the results and discussion chapters. The closing chapter contains the following.

5.1 Conclusion

The conclusion is the essence of the research results that have been discussed comprehensively which at least consists of (1) an answer to the formulation of the problem and research objectives; (2) new things found and the prospect of findings; and (3) the theoretical meaning of the new things found. Conclusions must be made based on the data from the research itself, not from a literature review or the results of other researchers.

5.2 Suggestion

Suggestions are things that can be recommended as the application of research results, both in the academic field and practical use to the community directly. It also contains suggestions for further development of the research results as well as matters that still need to be confirmed as a result of the limitations of the study.

4.2.3 Explanation of the Final Part of Undergraduate Thesis

The final part of the thesis includes the following:.

1. Bibliography/References (follow how to write bibliography).
2. Writer/Author's curriculum vitae.
3. The attachment is the part that contains additional information or data. It can be collected on how to carry out research, examples of statistical calculations, and something that is considered to be able to complete the writing of the thesis.

CHAPTER V

WRITING PROCEDURE

5.1 Manuscript

The manuscript is made on 80 gram HVS paper, white color, with A4 size (21.5 x 29.7 cm.) and typed not back and forth. For research proposals, 80 grams of color HVS paper, and for thesis manuscripts that have been approved by the examiner team are printed on 80 grams of HVS paper bearing the Faculty of Humanities logo.

5.2 Cover

The cover is made of buffalo paper and reinforced with cardboard (hardcover). The cover color for the undergraduate program (S1) is light beige.

5.3 Typing

5.3.1 Font Type and Paragraph

1. Manuscripts are typed with a computer with a distance of two spaces using the Times New Roman font.
2. All manuscripts are typed in 12 pt font, except for the title on the cover and inside pages. Foreign and regional terms should be written in italics.
3. Paragraph formation uses an indentation system with the beginning starting at the 7th beat from the left edge.

4. Each chapter is numbered sequentially according to the procedure chosen.

The spelling used in writing the thesis is Hepburn, with the following rules.

あ	A	い	I	う	U	え	E	お	O
か	KA	き	KI	く	KU	け	KE	こ	KO
さ	SA	し	SHI	す	SU	せ	SE	そ	SO
た	TA	ち	CHI	つ	TSU	て	TE	と	TO
な	NA	に	NI	ぬ	NU	ね	NE	の	NO
は	HA	ひ	HI	ふ	FU	へ	HE	ほ	HO
ま	MA	み	MI	む	MU	め	ME	も	MO

びゃ	BYA			びゅ	BYU			びょ	BYO

ひゃ	PYA			ひゅ	PYU			ひょ	PYO
----	-----	--	--	----	-----	--	--	----	-----

5.3.2 Numbers and Units

1. Numbers are typed with numbers. If less than ten or at the beginning of the sentence, the number must be written in letters.
2. Decimal numbers are marked with a comma, not with a period.
3. Units are expressed by official abbreviations without periods, for example, m, mg, kg, and cal.

5.3.3 Line Spacing (Space)

Typing is done in two spaces. For abstracts, summaries, bibliography, titles of graphs, tables, and figures that are more than one line, type one space.

5.4.4 Edge Border (Layout Margin)

Typing boundaries are viewed from the edge of the paper, which are set as follows.

- a. Top : 4 cm
- b. Bottom : 3 cm
- c. Left : 4 cm
- d. Right : 3 cm

5.4.5 Page Numbering

1. Page numbers from the inner cover page to the appendix list page are placed in the middle of the - bottom of the page using lowercase Roman numerals.

2. Page numbering outside the pages mentioned in point a. This is done using Arabic numerals placed in the upper right corner. For chapter pages, the page number is placed in the middle of the bottom of the page.

5.3.6 Room Filling (Paragraph Alignment)

The space contained in the manuscript page must be filled in fully (justify), meaning that typing must start from the left edge to the right edge. Space should not be wasted unless you are going to start with a new paragraph, equation, table, picture, chapter title, sub-chapter, or something special.

5.3.7 Sentence Beginning

Numbers, symbols, or formulas that start a sentence must be spelled, for example, 120 sufferers indicate ..., must be written one hundred and twenty sufferers indicate ...

5.3.8 Chapter Title, Sub-Chapter Title, Sub-Chapter Title, and Others

1. The title of the chapter must always be written at the beginning of a new page, written in all capital letters and in bold, and arranged so that it is symmetrical (center text), with a distance of 4 cm from the top edge without ending with a dot. Chapter numbers are written in Roman numerals.
2. The subsection titles are written starting from the left edge, all words begin with a capital letter, except for conjunctions and prepositions, and all are in bold without ending with a period. The first sentence after the title of the sub-chapter begins with a new paragraph. Subsection numbers are written in Arabic numerals.

3. The subsection titles are typed starting from the left edge and are in bold, but only the first letter of each word (lexical words) is written in capital letters (while grammatical words, such as conjunctions, prepositions, and so on are written in lowercase). The first sentence after the title of the sub-section begins with a new sentence.
4. The titles of the sub-chapters are written starting from the left edge, printed in plain (not bold), and only the first letter is capitalized. The first sentence after the sub-chapters begins with a new paragraph. Example: Appendix 13.

5.3.9 Details Arranged Downwards

If in the writing of the manuscript there are details that must be arranged downwards, use serial numbers with numbers or letters according to the degree of detail. The use of hyphens (-) or other bullet marks is not permitted.

5.3.10 Symmetrical Layout

Figures, tables, equations, and chapter titles are written symmetrically to the left and right edges (center text).

5.3.11 Tables and Figures

1. Table

- a. The table title is placed symmetrically above the table without ending with a period and one and a half spaces.
- b. Make sure the table does not exceed one page.
- c. If the table is arranged wide along the paper height, the top of the table must be placed on the top left.
- d. If the table is larger than the size of the paper it must be made longer than the size, the table can be folded.
- e. Tables that exceed one page are placed in the appendix.
- f. Above and below the table a border is placed to separate it from the main description. Horizontal dividing lines are only created for the top and bottom borders of the table head and the bottom border of the table. It is not recommended to make vertical lines.
- g. Tables taken from other sources must be cited.

2. Pictures/Images

- a. What is meant by pictures are charts, graphs, maps, and photos.
- b. The image number followed by the title is placed symmetrically below the image without ending with a period, one and a half spaces apart.
- c. Images cannot be cropped.
- d. Image captions are written on the same page as the image page.
- e. When the image is stretched along the paper height, the top of the image is placed on the top left.
- f. The scale on the graph must be made so that it is easy to use for interpolation and extrapolation.

- g. The layout of the image is arranged so that it is symmetrical.
- h. Images quoted from other sources must include the source.
- i. Images placed in the appendix must have a relationship with the description in the body of the thesis.

5.4 Language

1. Usage of Language

The language used is standard Indonesian scientific variety or English. The spelling must comply with the General Guidelines for Indonesian Spelling (PUEBI).

2. Sentence form

Sentences should not be in the first person or the second person but must be in the passive form. In the presentation of thanks in the introduction, the pronoun "I" is replaced with "the author".

3. Term

- a. The term used is the term Indonesian or Indonesianized.

- b. If forced to use a foreign term, the term is written in italics.

5.5 Number of Pages

The number of thesis pages from the Introduction to the Closing Chapter is a minimum of 50 pages and a maximum of 150 pages (adjusted with existing practices in each study program).

5.6 Bibliography/References

5.6.1 Style Usage

Writing bibliography for research proposals and thesis at the Faculty of Humanities, Udayana University using Harvard Style.

5.6.2 Author Names Referenced in Text

1. Each author whose opinion is cited in the text must be named, then the name must appear in the bibliography. Specific reference hints (closer to the quoted material) are better than general ones (eg: at the end of the paragraph).
2. The name written in the text is only the last name. If there are two authors, both are mentioned. However, if there are more than two authors, the name is written only the first name of the team leader et al. or et al. The author's name can be written at the end of the sentence (in brackets), and can also be included in the sentence (without brackets). The name is followed by a comma, followed by the year of publication (in brackets). If an author in the same year writes more than one reference source, the year after the year is given alphabetically (in lowercase). Example: Tjokroprawiro (2001a, 2001b, 2001c).
3. If a statement is quoted from many sources, try to use the source that is the most important and from the source. Citation of a quote is only allowed once. The order of author names is made by year, from oldest to new.
4. All names cited in the text must be in the bibliography, and vice versa.
5. Personal communication is only allowed if it is necessary with evidence of written records, in the bibliography the name, place, and year are written.

Example:

1. One Name

According to Keraf (1997:1), language is a means of communication between members of the community in the form of sound symbols produced by human speech.

- b. Two Names

Culture is a means of the work, taste, and creativity of the community (Soemardjan and Soemardi, 1964: 407).

c. More Than Two Names

Nababan et al. (2012) stated that the assessment of the quality of translation is very relevant to be applied to four areas, namely 1) the field of published translation; 2) the professional translation field; 3) the field of translation produced in the context of teaching translation practice courses; 4) the field of translation studied in the context of translation research. Authors of more than two names can also be written: Nababan et al. (2012).

5.6.3 How to Write a Bibliography

Consistency in the way the bibliography is written is important. For this purpose, the following are regulated.

1. The names of the authors in the bibliography are sorted alphabetically.
2. What is written is the surname/last name, followed by the abbreviation of the first name and middle name. For Indonesians who do not have a surname, the last name is considered the family name.
Example: R. Boedhi Darmojo, then written: Darmojo, R.B. However, if the names do not want to be separated, the author will put a hyphen between the two names. The above example will be written by Boedhi-Darmojo, R. All authors' names must be listed in the bibliography.
3. The method of writing a bibliography depends on the type of source, for example, a source in the form of a book will be written differently from a source in the form of an article. It can be seen below.
 - a. Source in the form of a book

The author's name is followed by a period, then followed by the year of publication, followed by a period, followed by the title of the book (italicized), and the edition, ending with a period. Then, write the city where it was published with a colon, ending with the name of the publisher. For books with editors and each chapter is written by a separate author, the method of writing can be seen in the examples presented.

2. The source in the form of a journal

Author's name followed by a period, year of publication, followed by a period, followed by the name of the journal (italicized) followed by a comma, journal volume, issue number (in brackets) followed by a colon, then the page of the journal. Journal names are abbreviated according to international custom. If in doubt, write the full name of the journal.

- c. How to write quotes from theses, dissertations, and internet sources can be seen in the examples presented.
- d. If a book does not mention the author, the term “anonymous” is used to indicate the name of the author does not exist; for no year use “t.t.”

25 Abstract in Japanese

要旨

本研究は、「和久井健の漫画『東京リベンジャーズ』の登場人物マイキーにおける境界性パーソナリティ障害」と題するものである。本研究は、漫画『東京リベンジャーズ』の登場人物マイキーが経験したBPDを引き起こす行動と内的・外的要因を明らかにすることを目的としている。本研究で用いた方法は、記述分析法であり、使用した理論は、文学的心理学の理論および境界性パーソナリティ障害の理論である。

その結果、登場人物マイキーの行動から、(1) 見捨てられることや拒絶されることへの恐怖、(2) 理想化と切り捨てが極端に変化する不安定な対人関係、(3) アイデンティティクライシス、(4) 衝動的行動、(5) 自殺行動、(6) 幻覚のような解離体験が明らかになり、BPD性人格障害の兆候があることがわかった。マイキーの性格がBPDを経験する内的要因は、対処メカニズムの障害とトラウマによるものであり、外的要因

は、悪い環境の影響と若くして重い責任を背負ったことによるものであるという。
